Antioch Board Hears Talk on Zoning Procedure

Paul Kingery of Regional Planning Bd. Addresses Board Meeting

The various steps in the procedure of zoning a village were discussed by Paul Kingery, Chicago Regional planning director, at a special meeting of the Antioch village board last evening.

At the present time, Antioch has appointed its zoning commission, made provision for temporary zoning safeguards, and is preparing to make maps showing the present uses of land and buildings within the village limits.

The primary purpose of zoning is to protect the interests of present and prospective property owners, whether residential, business or industrial, Kingery explained.

He urged that simplicity, a certain amount of flexibility, and consideration for the general interests of individuals and the community be kept in the primary considerations in the drawing up and application of zoning ordinances.

Further steps outlined by Kingery included the making of a first draft of the proposed ordinance, making of a field inspection, submission of the ordinance to the village board, publication of a notice of public hearing at least 15 days before the hearing, holding of one or more public hearings, a review of the zoning map and regulations, submission of a final report to the village board, and the enactment of the ordinance by the village board. After the ordinance is adopted, all material pertaining to surveys, reports and records is placed on file and the zoning commission is automatically disbanded.

Army and Navy Leaders Urge Bond Purchase

Message Spurs Seventh Campaign, Launched This Week

With the opening of Antioch township's Seventh War Loan campaign this week, the following message from the United States' five-star generals and admirals is passed on by Otto S. Klass, chairman for the drive:

"TO THE AMERICAN PEOPLE:
"Your sons, husbands and brothers who are standing today upon the battle fronts are fighting for more than victory in war. They are fighting for a new world of freedom and peace.

"We, upon whom has been placed the responsibility of leading the American forces, appeal to you with all possible earnestness to invest in War Bonds to the fullest extent of your capacity.

"Give us not only the needed implements of war, but the assurance and backing of a united people so necessary to hasten the victory and speed the return of your fighting men."

The message bears the signatures of George A. Marshall, William D. Leahy, Douglas MacArthur, E. J. King, Dwight Eisenhower, C. W. Nimitz, H. H. Arnold.

Same Committees
Klass announces that the same committees that have worked on the bond campaigns in the past will continue to function in this drive.

He adds: "Yes, in our very humble way, we can buy bonds, to show the debt and thanks we owe.

"For the sacrifices made by these boys—yours, and yours—are debts which can't be paid.

"The boys' request to us is to buy bonds, and the more of them you buy, the quicker this war will come to a victorious end.

"They want to come home. When they do, can you look in their eyes and say, 'son, while you were making your sacrifices to keep this country safe for democracy, I in my little way did everything I could?'"

"Call your campaign representative in your locality, and tell him or her that you want to buy a bond. Don't buy as small a one as you can, but buy as large a one as you should, and by so doing, you are helping your country and yourself."

The 1945 bass fishing season opened in the southern third of Illinois at midnight, May 14. It will open in the central zone of the state June 1, and in the northern zone on June 15.

"Poppy Day" Will Be Observed Here Saturday, May 26

Legion Auxiliary Receives Shipment of Little Red Memorial Flowers

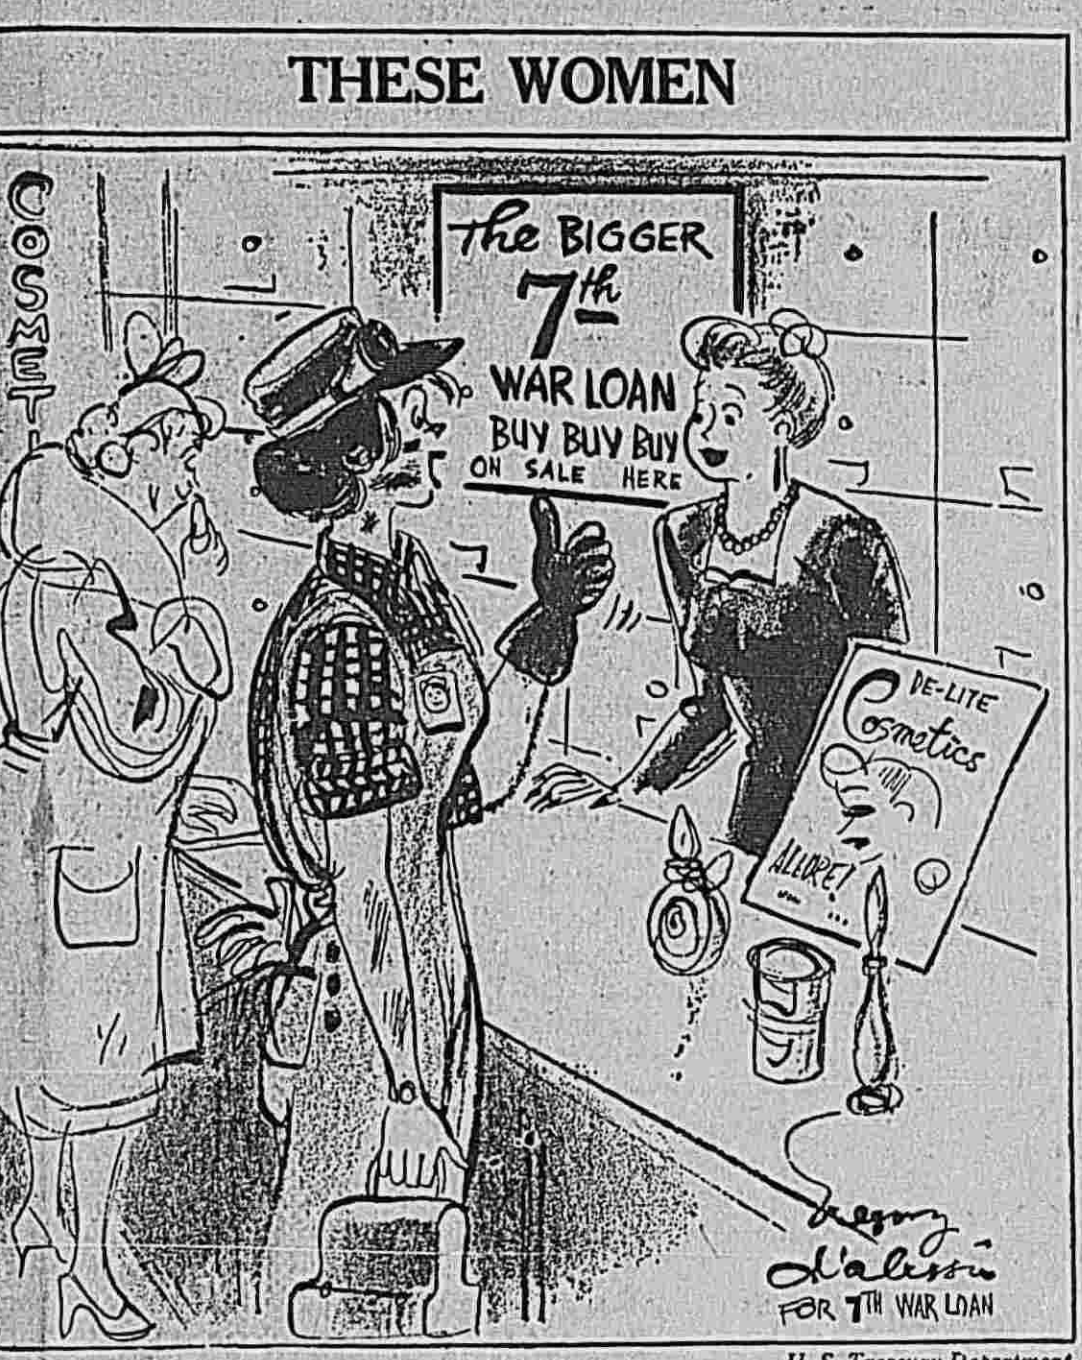

"Now we can begin! The poppies are here!"

The Antioch American Legion auxiliary has already received its shipment of the little red flowers which are now being counted and placed in baskets and bunches ready for their sale by volunteer workers on Poppy Day, May 26.

Each little poppy is a paper replica of those blooms that grew so bravely on the battle fields of the first World War. Since each is shaped by hand, each is slightly different from its fellows, but, as Mrs. A. H. Kaufmann, Poppy Day chairman, points out, every flower carries the same message and dedication.

"The poppy is the memorial flower for every man who has died fighting in either of our two great World Wars. They have all died in a common cause, whether death struck them on Flanders Fields in 1919 or on Tarawa in 1944," says Mrs. Kaufmann. "In America's continual struggle to maintain her liberty, these dead warriors are linked together in spite of 25 years in time and thousands of miles in space. The poppy is worn as evidence that we remember and reverence them all."

The poppies are made by hospitalized veterans, who are paid for their services. The volunteer workers who sell them (in Antioch's case, members of the Girl Scout troops) serve without pay, and proceeds of the sales go to the Legion's and the auxiliary's aid to disabled veterans and the families of service men.

Those from out-of-town who are here for the services include Mrs. Eva Harrison of Portland, Ore. and Mrs. Stewart of Hebron, Ill., both of whom are aunts of the deceased.

Peter. Bludaw Services Held Fri. in Chicago

Resident of Warriner Sub. Dies at Age of 94 Years

Peter Bludaw, 94, who was for more than 20 years a resident of the Warriner subdivision at Lake Catherine, was buried in a Chicago cemetery following services held at a funeral home there last Friday morning.

Bludaw passed away May 7 in St. Therese hospital, Waukegan, to which he had been taken by the Antioch Rescue squad.

He had remained active up to the very last days of his life, and was reported to have been conscious up to his last moments.

He took great pride in his memories of earlier days in Chicago and was fond of recounting anecdotes about those times.

Squad Summoned for Hemorrhage, Accident

Cornelius Malget, Grass Lake road, was removed to St. Therese hospital Saturday evening at 8:30 o'clock by the Antioch Rescue squad. Malget, who had undergone a facial operation some time ago, had suffered a hemorrhage.

Charles Hoge sustained a dislocated shoulder and other injuries in a fall May 7 at 10:50 a. m. Dr. Breakstone and the Rescue squad were called.

Peter Bludaw, 94, was removed to St. Therese hospital by the squad May 5 at 7 p. m.

Antioch Rescue Squad Observes 5th Anniversary

Has Answered 449 Calls; Was Organized in May 1940

With more than one-third of its membership now serving in the armed forces, the Antioch Rescue squad, which is observing its fifth anniversary this month as an organized mobile Red Cross unit, takes great pride in the fact that it has never failed to answer a call for aid, at any hour of the day or night.

To date, the squad has answered 449 calls since May, 1940.

Its present membership includes Herman Holbek, captain; Herman A. Rosing, first lieutenant; W. I. Scott, second lieutenant; Lloyd Murrie, Einar Petersen, Fred Yates, Henry Rentner, William Banedit, Morris Pickus and R. F. Allner, squadmen.

Among the members in the service are Maj. L. D. Powles, Elgin field, Fla.; Lt. Cmdr. J. W. McMillen, care of Fleet post office, San Francisco; Sgt. Harry Quadenfeld, APO 887, New York; T/4 Howard G. Strang, APO 465, New York; George W. Bartlett, AM 1/c, care of Fleet post office, San Francisco; Pvt. Charles E. ("Chuck") Larson, APO 18353, New York.

Previous to its formal organization, Powles, Holbek and Rosing had operated as a three-man rescue crew in cooperation with the Antioch fire department for several months.

All of the squad members are Red Cross-trained in first aid work and the organization is registered with the regional Red Cross headquarters in St. Louis as a mobile unit liable to call in case of emergencies or disasters at any time during the 24 hours of the day. It has on several occasions been notified to "stand by" for a possible call to flood areas in the Mississippi valley and was summoned twice to Waukegan, when the Hein and Blumberg fires threatened to assume emergency proportions.

The squad, which is uniformed, at present has equipment valued at around $4,000. This includes the truck, which is equipped with special lights for illuminating the scene of accidents at night; fire extinguishers, an acetylene torch for cutting away metal wreckage, splints of various kinds, oxygen apparatus, a complete doctor's kit, helmets and coats, blankets, and many other articles which have been added as the result of experiences on past calls or on the advice of physicians.

It has been credited by physicians with saving lives on several occasions and its equipment has often been called upon for use in emergency cases.

With the exception of the splendid mobile unit stationed in Kenosha (which was the inspiration for the Antioch organization) there is no other outfit of this type nearer than Michigan, Capt. Holbek believes.

On Radio Hook-Up

The Antioch squad accompanies the local fire department to all dwelling or barn fires outside the village limits, at the request of the First Fire district and the fire commissioner. It cooperates closely with the Lake county sheriff's department and, because of its nearness to the Wisconsin state line, it has in emergencies responded to calls in Kenosha county. Its two-way radio equipment is a part of Sheriff Walter Atkinson's Lake county radio hook-up.

Services of the squad members are donated on an entirely voluntary basis, and all funds received, whether from the donations of individuals or business concerns, or from the squad's annual benefit party, are used only for the purchase of equipment or for maintenance.

The newest addition to the squad equipment will be a siren to be mounted on the village water tower. It is expected that this will cut to about a minute and a half the time required for starting out on a call, and it is also expected to lighten the burden of the local telephone office in putting the calls through.

The squad hopes to make its next major purchase a new and larger truck.

Garage rent and gasoline for answering calls are furnished by the village of Antioch.

Keep Your Victory Garden —Here's Why You Should!

The whys and wherefores of the food shortage are dealt with by Lawrence Sullivan in an article in Nation's Business for May, 1945—"Food Muddle—How It Grew." Says Sullivan, in part—

"For millions of Americans, 1945 will be a year of belt tightening.

"If the weather is favorable, we may have a bumper food crop—the seventh in a row! but even so, there will be barely enough food for our domestic needs, military needs and relief commitments. Should a severe drought hit the country, a disastrous food shortage could result.

"As Congress proceeds with its food shortage inquiry, the consumer finds himself confused by apparently conflicting official figures. So he wants to know, 'Is there a food shortage, a food muddle—or a food scandal?'

"The Department of Agriculture calculates our food supply for the year as adequate, but does so by a strange statistical device. A missing pound of butter or beef, the Department offsets with a pound of cabbage—and makes the grand totals look encouraging.

"In tonnage (not in nutritional value, understand) the Department's figures show that we will produce 35 percent more food this year than the average for the years 1935-39. Included in this predicted tonnage are tremendous increases in cabbage, kale, carrots, peanuts and soybeans. . . . But the same official report tells us: 'Supplies of all meats, chicken, butter, lard, potatoes, sweet potatoes, dry beans, some fresh vegetables, deciduous fruits and sugar probably will be reduced from the 1944 levels!'

"Here is one small instance of how guessing wrong about the war's end affected the food situation: In the spring of '44—on the expectation that the fighting in Europe would be over that year—the War Food Administration signalled U. S. farmers to curtail hog production 20 percent. When the figures were in, it turned out that the reduction was actually about 34 percent, leaving us with plenty of hog feed but not enough hogs.

The principal factor in muddling our food problem, however, was not the wrong guess about when the European war would end, but was—and still is—short sighted management and lack of coordination on the part of the various federal agencies which are supposed to be responsible for the production and distribution of the nation's food.

"Take a look at the War Food Administration, by way of example. Because of its tremendous inventories, the WFA sometimes holds great stores of food until it is unfit for human consumption.

"Instead of having one responsible agency—we have nine agencies working at cross purposes in an attempt to guide our production and distribution of food:

"1. The Department of Agriculture still administers basic production aids, through county agents and local crop adjustment committees.

"2. The War Food Administration allocates all basic foods between civilian, military and lend-lease claims.

"3. The Commodity Credit Corporation finances all government price-support programs, stores surplus holdings, estimates annual requirements.

"4. The Defense Supplies Corporation administers distribution subsidies on butter, flour, meats, sugar and several lesser commodities.

"5. The Foreign Economic Administration handles all lend-lease transactions.

"6. The Office of Price Administration fixes wholesale and retail ceilings—but is without authority to hold basic farm prices within its retail ceilings!

"7. The War Production Board allocates fertilizers and basic materials for farm machinery, trucks, and equipment—but has no control over the type of production which may be called for with the machinery made available.

"8. The War Manpower Commission and Selective Service have full authority over farm manpower—the crux of the production problem.

9. Finally, Rural Resettlement Administration and Rural Electrification Authority are fussing around the fringes of every farm production problem.

"In addition, through special treaty arrangements, the State Department has a voice in fixing our annual supply of sugar and coffee.

"In the face of . . . increasing overseas demands, our food production is smaller this year than last, limited sharply by manpower, farm machinery and fertilizers. Distribution is restricted by transportation difficulties, a shortage of farm trucks, and maladjustments in OPA ceiling prices."

—Well, looks like this ain't no year to let down on them Victory Gardens, is it?

"Eternal Vigilance is the Price of Safety"

National Commander Edward N. Scheiberling, American Legion consultant to the U. S. delegation at the United Nations conference in San Francisco, Calif., issued the following statement of Victory in Europe on V-E Day:

Once again free men and freedom-loving people have triumphed in the blood and death of Europe and for that the hearts of our world are grateful today.

But we cannot forget the valley of shadow through which for the second time in a quarter of a century we have passed to achieve this victory. We cannot forget the American men who will never return from Europe; We cannot forget the broken bodies of our wounded.

Foremost in our minds on this day of victory in Europe must be the determination that it must not happen again. That is the purpose of the free nations gathered here at San Francisco. Out of this great conference the foundation for peace must be laid.

"Now that the cannons roar no longer in Europe there will emerge from present obscurity many organizations and individuals who seek a soft peace, who would have America retire again into the false shell of isolationism. It is our duty, for the sake of future generations, to warn against this false and dangerous doctrine. The forces of the Axis powers must be kept in restraint. This is not a doctrine of hate, but the same common sense that prevents the criminally insane from attacking innocent victims.

Nor must we allow ourselves to be diverted even for a moment from the other grim, deadly war which is still being fought in the Pacific. Not until the forces of Japan are completely overthrown can we truly say that freedom and liberty are safe in this world. V-E Day must bring no relaxation in our war against this savage, treacherous foe in the Pacific. The war must be carried on with redoubled effort on the home front and on the battle front until total victory is achieved.

On this V-E Day the members of the American Legion and auxiliary join with all Americans in our expression of gratitude to Almighty God for bringing the struggle in Europe to a victorious end. We raise our prayers and our hopes for final victory and for the success of the San Francisco conference to the end that war, a relic of barbarity, may be banished from the earth, and that the peace may be just and permanent.

Edna L. Pedersen, Winsor Dalgaard United in Marriage

Miss Edna Lucille Pedersen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Pedersen, Highway 173, became the bride of Winsor A. Dalgaard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Dalgaard, Antioch, at a nuptial high mass in St. Peter's church Saturday morning at 10 o'clock. The Rev. Francis M. Flaherty officiated.

The bride wore white organza, with a fingertip-length veil caught at the head with clusters of orange blossoms, and carried a white prayerbook which was the gift of the bridegroom. Her sister, Miss Alice Pedersen, was maid of honor, wearing blue organza, and bridesmaids, the Misses Rose Marie Zellhofer of Salem, Wis., and Lilah Dalgaard of Antioch, were in pink organza. Little Miss Lenore McCord, niece of the bride, who was flower girl, wore a floor-length frock of yellow net. Colonial style bouquets of sweet peas were carried by all of the bride's attendants.

Alfred Pedersen, Jr., acted as best man, with Ralph Snyder, Iowa, and James Harvey, Little Silver Lake, as groomsmen.

A wedding dinner was served at the Colony House at Rock Lake, and a reception was also held there.

Mr. and Mrs. Dalgaard left afterward for Chicago, from where they planned to leave on a boat trip across Lake Michigan to visit the tulip festival at Holland, Mich.

They will make their home in Ravinia, Ill. The bridegroom is a sales representative for the Swift company in the Highland Park area. The bride plans to continue her secretarial work at the U. S. Naval Training station, Great Lakes.

Pre-nuptial parties at which the bride was honored included a dinner and shower in the home of Mrs. Winsor W. (Edna) Warriner, her namesake.

An interesting coincidence that might please friends of the late Dr. Warriner is the fact that Winsor Dalgaard was named for him.

The Misses Shirley Harness, Alice Harvey and Rose Marie Zellhofer were hostesses at a shower recently in the Thomas Harness home, Millburn.

Both the bride and the bridegroom are graduates of Antioch Township High School. The bridegroom was an aviation cadet in the U. S. Naval reserve for several months, receiving an honorable discharge on medical grounds several months ago.

A sister of the bride, the former Miss Lena Pedersen, and a brother of the bridegroom, T. V. Bruce Dalgaard, serving overseas with the army in the Pacific area, were united in marriage March 26, 1940.

Gregory Yahnke, Libertyville, Ill., now serving with the navy and at present stationed at Port Hueneme, and Mrs. Yahnke were here from California to attend the services.

Baha'is Present Plan for Maintaining Peace

Mrs. A. F. Matthisen, one of the 171 elected delegates who annually elect the members of the National Spiritual Assembly of the Baha'is of the United States and Canada, announced recently that the ballots of the national election this year were cast by mail, instead of at the annual convention which would customarily have been held in Wilmette, Ill.

However, on Sunday, April 29, three members of the national executive board, George Orr Latimer of Portland, Ore.; Horace Holley of Wilmette, and Dorothy Baker of Lima, O., were speakers in the foundation hall of the Baha'i House of Worship in Wilmette.

The Baha'i plan for permanent world peace and its part in the world proposals at the San Francisco Security conference were the major theme of the three speakers.

Latimer stated, in part, that "The building of a permanent world peace must be based upon recognition of the moral and spiritual rights of all peoples and nations. It is not sufficient just to establish the mechanics for stopping quarrels between nations."

The Baha'i plan is described as calling for a world parliament composed of elected representatives of the people, with an international executive strong enough to enforce the compact entered into by the signatory nations.

By general agreement, the governments of the world would disarm, retaining only sufficient arms to preserve internal order. However, these governments would contribute a proportionate share of their army and navy toward the formation of an international police force.

Each nation would surrender its claims to make war, as well as the rights to impose certain taxes, to this supreme commonwealth. The national assemblies of each country would elect the choicest men of its country who were well informed concerning international laws, the relationships between governments, and who were aware of the essential social and economic needs of humanity. The number of representatives would be in proportion to the population of each country. Their election would be confirmed by the congress or parliament of each nation. The members of the supreme tribunal would be chosen from these delegates, so that the will of the people would be fully expressed at the council chamber, and when a decision was arrived at, either unanimously or by majority rule, there would no longer be any pretext for objections as both the plaintiff and defendant would be properly represented by their duly accredited representatives.

School Medal Awards Will Be Presented Wed.

Annabelle Barthel, Robert Scott to be Honored at Banquet

Robert Scott and Annabelle Barthel have been announced as winners of the medal awarded each year by the Antioch American Legion post to the Antioch Grade school girl and boy who are elected to that honor by other members of the student body.

The awards will be presented to them by Americanism Chairman Otto S. Klass at the Eighth Grade graduation banquet Wednesday evening, May 23, in the Methodist church dining room.

Robert is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Scott and Annabelle is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Barthel.

Candidates Were Outstanding
Klass stated that several outstanding candidates had been nominated by the student body to receive the honor, and that the elections were very close.

Nominations for the honor were based on the qualifications exemplified in a series of talks given at the school during the past few months under the Legion's auspices.

The topics and speakers included "Honor," the Rev. W. C. Henslee; "Courage," Attorney John Logan Boyles; "Scholarship," T. R. Birkhead, principal of Antioch Township High school; "Leadership," Albert Krohl, coach at Antioch Township High school; "Service," Dr. L. J. Zimmerman.

Lake County T. B. Association to Hold Annual Meet May 22

An invitation is being extended to the general public to attend the annual meeting of the Lake County Tuberculosis association Tuesday evening, May 22, in the Waukegan American Legion home. A dinner, at $1.50 a plate, will be served at 7 p. m. Reservations may be made by telephoning Waukegan Majestic 1805 by Saturday noon, May 19, Miss Orpha L. White, executive secretary of the association, announces.

Edward A. Pool, director of education in industry for the Zurich Insurance companies, will give an illustrated talk on "Education in Human Maintenance."

"Due to the splendid cooperation of residents from all parts of Lake county, your association has had a successful year and is planning an enlarged program the coming year with the use of new equipment—a mobile x-ray unit which has been ordered," Miss White states.

"This year, as was also the case last year, your association ranks first with the largest gross seal sale of all counties in Illinois, exclusive of Cook county."

Mastitis Control Aid Available to Dairymen

Lake County dairymen who have the problem of mastitis in their herds may avail themselves of an opportunity to get some assistance by notifying the Lake County Farm Bureau office at Grayslake, according to an announcement made by Farm Adviser Ray T. Nicholas.

Dr. Paul Beamer, project assistant for the Mastitis Control program in northeastern Illinois, recently informed Nicholas that he was in a position to render service to more Lake county dairymen. This service would include a few visits to the farm, at which time the principles of mastitis control would be discussed, samples of milk collected for microscopic tests, and procedures for elimination and control of the disease determined.

Library News

"The Complete Book of Sewing," by Constance Talbot, gives many shortcuts in making and altering clothing. It also has instructions for making slip covers, drapes, and lamp shades and illustrations for embroidery, quilting, and smoking. This book was presented to the library as a memorial to Mrs. Bert Dickey.

"The Cradle Will Fall" is a first novel, but Stephen Seley tells the story of a boy's reaction to the death of his mother with sympathy and skill. "Miss Dilly Says No," by Theodore Pratt, author of "Mr. Winkle Goes to War" and "The Barefoot Mailman," is a humorously barbed satire on Hollywood.

Appropriate to the times are two new books about Asia and the Philippines. "American Guerilla in the Philippines" is the story of Iliff David Richardson as told to Ira Wolfert. Serving on a PT boat, Richardson was one of Bulkeley's famous "expeditionaries." When the American forces in the Philippines surrendered, Richardson continued to fight the Japs in guerrilla warfare and as radio intelligence link to General MacArthur's forces gathering for re-conquest.

"Solution in Asia," by Owen Lattimore, is blunt and authoritative. It is a "must" book for all who want to know what is happening in Asia and what will bring not only military peace, but also the more lasting political and economic peace.

We pass on to you—Twenty persons were killed and 456 injured in bicycle accidents in Illinois last year—many of them boys and girls in their teens—Secretary Edward J. Barrett has said in urging parents and teachers to cooperate with him to reduce future tragedies by impressing upon young folks who operate bicycles the need of observing the law for their own safety.

"Careful as motorists may be," said Barrett, "bicycle accidents cannot be avoided unless cyclists as well as drivers exercise the utmost caution."

To further the cause of safety, Barrett proposed ten rules for bicycle riders which if obeyed would virtually eliminate accidents involving bicycles. They are as follows:

1. Keep to the right side of the street or highway.
2. Obey all traffic laws.
3. Don't ride on the sidewalks.
4. Never travel at night without both a head and tail light on your bicycle.
5. Don't race.
6. Signal for all turns and stops.
7. Do not hitch to a moving vehicle.
8. Don't make a U. turn in the middle of the street.
9. Brakes are just as essential on a bicycle as on a car—keep them in good working condition.
10. Don't ride anyone on your bicycle, and do not try any trick riding.

The law requires that cyclists obey all traffic controls including stop lights, said Barrett.

When operated at night, bicycles must be equipped with a white light visible from a distance of 500 feet to the front of the vehicle, and with a red reflector or tail-light visible from a distance of 500 feet to the rear, he said.

High Courage Is Shown in Stories Of Death, Rescue

Family Affection, Bravery in Face of Disaster, Told By Navy.

WASHINGTON.—Two stories of family affection and courage in the face of disaster were told by the navy. Stories of a father's last moments with his son and of how a brother saved his younger brother's life, says the Chicago Daily News.

In a small navy boat lay a young marine sergeant who had been wounded desperately on Iwo. Another boat drew up, carrying a navy captain who asked that the sergeant be given into his care.

Capt. Charles Carter Anderson gently carried his only son, Sgt. Charles Carter Anderson Jr., to the second boat. The sergeant was dying. He had lost both legs and an arm and had suffered other wounds from the explosion of a mortar shell on a land mine in Iwo.

"I'm feeling pretty good," he told his father. "I wonder how mother will take all this."

Those were his last words. A navy chaplain went to Mrs. Anderson's home in Washington.

"Is it my husband or my son?" she asked.

The chaplain could tell her only that her son had died of wounds suffered on Iwo.

Mother Goes to Work.
Mrs. Anderson turned to two letters from her husband. She had been saving them to read after she had dressed for her volunteer job at Bethesda naval hospital.

"A force stronger than ours has taken charge and our beloved son is with us on earth no more."

Mrs. Anderson donned her uniform and went to her work at the hospital.

Seaman John Worstall, 26, was a hero today to many others besides his brother, Norman, 17. John is from Smithfield, Ohio.

Norman lived with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Worstall in Dillonville, 30 miles away.

They entered the navy the same day, trained together, shipped together and survived two sinkings together.

Then on January 8 the two were aboard their new ship off Luzon. John was manning a 20-mm. gun and Norman stood at his five-inch mount near by.

A Jap dive-bomber darted in and loosed a bomb.

Saves His Brother.
Norman was blown 100 feet away into the water. When he came to the surface John was 50 feet away. Neither was hurt.

Forty-five minutes later a minesweeper picked them up. Then the larger minesweeper Hovey—later announced as sunk—came alongside to take off survivors.

Norman slipped and his foot was smashed between the rolling ships. John caught him up and carried him.

Next day an enemy torpedo plane scored a hit. John carried his crippled brother to the rail, tossed him over and dived in after him.

John swam with one hand and buoyed up his brother with the other. Norman began to lose consciousness.

"I felt myself going out," Norman related. "I said to John, 'Let me go, you'll go down, too.'"

"The hell we will," John grunted.

They were picked up by a small boat and taken to a battleship. Norman was transferred to a hospital ship, leaving John behind.

It was the first time they'd been separated since May 22, 1944.

Trapped Sailor Left on Sinking Vessel Escapes

WILMINGTON, DEL.—The merchant marine vessel Steel Traveler went down last December with few casualties among the 70 crew members picked up, Coxswain Paul L. Taylor of Wilmington said. The ship's loss was disclosed by the navy at Washington.

Taylor said one of the crewmen had been abandoned at his own insistence.

"A man was pinned amidship under a heavy hatch," he continued, "and crewmen were trying to free him but the water was coming up fast and the sailor insisted the men save themselves. The men reluctantly complied, leaving the man to go down with the ship."

"However, as the water rose on the trapped sailor the hatch cover was floated off and he escaped."

Germans Eating Food Of Red Cross, Is Hint

BIRKESDORF, GERMANY.—United States 1st army intelligence officers are investigating a possibility that German troops have been consuming food from Red Cross packages intended for French prisoners of war.

Lt. Col. Mark Plaisted of Springfield, Ill., discovered in Birkesdorf three empty cartons, each of which had contained 48 pounds of Red Cross food.

"It seems conclusive the Germans were using this food themselves," he said, "but we are having an investigation made. We know no prisoners have been held in Dueren for months, and yet these boxes are all new and freshly opened."

Your correspondent bethought himself to shake the dust of Chicago from his feet and take a few days jaunting at these Wisconsin lakes: ... Spring, the coy and capricious, is with us. The summer boarder's loud voice and bottled beer have not yet made their appearance. ... Chandler's magnificent Singalese Villa, situated on a commanding eminence at the entrance to Button's Bay, is approaching completion externally. ... Ground has been broken for the Yerkes telescope.

Why the Illinois Press Association selected Delavan for an outing I can't imagine, unless it was for its inaccessibility. You must stage coach or walk it from Williams Bay, a distance of nine and a half miles back and forth. With our own lovely Fox Lake so handy, I can't see why these fellows should go to Delavan.
